CONFERENCE SUB-THEMES

1. Transforming PSET institutions offering distance and online learning to be inclusive and equitable for the 4IR.
2. The role and readiness of educators and administrators in an evolving PSET sector (policies, strategies, practices, skills and competencies).
3. ODeL models, methodologies and pedagogies for the future.
4. Student access, retention, success and employability.
5. Promoting PSET and collaborative practice (e.g. industry partnership, public and private sector, government etc.) in the era of the 4IR.
6. ODeL in the TVET sector.
7. Collaborative Online International Learning (e.g. advancing curriculum transformation, decolonising the curriculum through international online collaboration, best practices, student experiences, etc.)

Whilst the COVID-19 pandemic created enormous disruptions in education, just like in all other spheres of life, it pushed many institutions to accelerate the process of changing their teaching and learning strategies to align education more with the needs of the 4IR. The theme of the Nadeosa conference reminds post-school education and training institutions to draw from the lessons learnt from the COVID experience and reposition themselves in order to prepare students for the future.
